One button shutdown

JustTouchPager is a communication platform which allows you to inform your customers when their order or seating becomes available. Rather than having to call-out and potentially disturb other customers you can assign one of the slim-line pager units to a customer and with a single button press notify them to collect or return. This allows your customers to wait away from the immediate vicinity of the ordering position.

"Professional, infomative notification clears order points."

SIMPLE TO OPERATE

- When a customer places an order at the order point simply remove one of the pager units from the charging dock
- Note the clearly defined pager number and key this into your JustTouchPOS system along with the customer order
- Hand the pager to the customer and tell them the unit will notify them when their order (or table availability) is ready
- The order is sent to the kitchen prep and the pager number is clearly displayed for wait or counter staff
- When the order is ready the wait or counter staff note the original pager number from the prep ticket. They press the same number on the base station keypad to activate the call
- The customers pager will then flash the LED lights, vibrate and sound the notification. This lets them know to return to a specific pickup point or collection area
